HOPE DIM FOR MISSING PLANE

Survivors of Crashed Transport Likely To Die in Alpine Winds.

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Nov. 21 — American authorities at Orly airfield said tonight they feared the outlook was virtually hopeless for the 11 persons aboard a crashed C-53 transport unless rescue crews reached the Alps where the plane came down two days ago.

They pointed out the 12,000-foot-high area was swept by bitter winds. U. S. army headquarters at Frankfurt reported a radio message saying eight of the 11 were stretcher cases.

The passengers included a brigadier general and the wives of three brigadier generals.

"Someone" Sighted

The Lyon airport radio station reported a message that "someone on the ground" had been sighted, but it did not know whether this referred to the plane's occupants or to rescue parties toiling up the snow-clad slopes of the Mt. Cenis region.

A mysterious radio message led to a premature announcement of the plane's discovery. Col. Hilbert F. Muenter, commander of the U. S. European air transport service, made the announcement and then withdrew it. This message, saying the wreckage had been sighted on a glacier, was attributed to one of the search planes, but other planes said they had no knowledge of it.

The Lyon-Bron radio announced a message from the C-53 at 5 p. m. (11 a. m. eastern standard time) saying "we want to live."

A C-54 circled the area 10 hours in clear weather without sighting any wreckage. The weather was beginning to close in as the pilot left the district.

Reports Radio Message

Earlier U. S. army headquarters at Frankfurt reported a radio message saying eight of the 11 persons aboard the C-53 were stretcher cases. The Istres airport said a Pan-American Airways plane had sighted the transport, but Pan-American reported from its Turin office that none of its planes that landed there had sighted the wreckage.

Among the passengers were Brig. Gen. Loyal M. Haynes, former deputy chief of staff, U. S. forces in Austria; Haynes' wife, and the wives of Brig. Gens. Ralph H. Tate and Ralph Snavely. Mrs. Tate is the mother of the 6,500 Letters To Be Mailed Here Monday in Fight Against TB.

Approximately 6,500 letters containing thousands of Christmas Health Seals will go in the mail Monday, addressed to residents of Marion city and county, in the interest of combatting a contagious disease which annually takes the lives of 55,000 Americans.

This year, as in many former ones, the Christmas Seal campaign is carried on in city and county by the Marion County Anti-Tuberculosis League. Weeks and days of checking and addressing envelopes are nearly completed and, aside from checking a few addresses and names, the letters are ready for mailing.

Girl Scouts Help

Assisting in the work this year is Girl Scout Troop No. 25, made up of fifth and sixth grade girls at the George Washington school. The Scouts, living up to their pledge of helping others, took over the job of placing the seals in the envelopes, and completed their work at a recent meeting in the assembly room at the school. The work, in addition to aiding the sponsoring organization, also will apply on their goal, the earning of a community service badge. Mrs. C. R. Pennisten is the troop leader and Mrs. F. P. Yost is assistant leader.

The envelopes this year, as in 1945, will contain seals in the amount of $2. This method makes for a saving in both time and mailing expenses, the sponsors believe, as many requests are received for more seals each year from individuals and organizations. This year, as in former years, contributors are privileged to use their own pleasure regarding the contributions. Hoping that all the seals will be kept and more requested, the sponsors point out that any and all contributions are gratefully received.

Design of Seal

The seal features a lamplighter and was designed by Lloyd Coe, well-known landscape artist and illustrator. Each sheet of 100 seals has four special seals to commemorate the first seal sale in the United States.

Cold Wave Warnings Issued for Midwest

By The Associated Press

Cold wave warnings were issued today for Minnesota and Iowa as a mass of cold air covering the northwest moved rapidly southeastward.

The U. S. weather bureau at Chicago said the cold gripped Montana, the Dakotas, Nebraska, northeastern Wyoming, eastern Colorado and northwestern Kansas, bringing temperatures ranging from 20 to 25 degrees above to 23 below zero.

POLIO CLOSES TWO SCHOOLS

Delaware County Official Acts After One Dies; Union Co. Watches Threat.

Death from infantile paralysis of a nine-year-old Westerville boy resulted yesterday in closing of the Harlem township school in Delaware county, The Associated Press reported.

The boy, Robert R. Long, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Long, was one of three Delaware county children stricken with the disease. The other children are George Haycook, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Haycook and Jean Ufferman, 11. They are in Children's hospital in Columbus.

Closed Two Weeks

The Harlem schools will remain closed for two weeks, Dr. Alexander Witkow, district health commissioner, announced. Public eating places there were closed yesterday temporarily while their equipment was sterilized and public meetings have been forbidden to children.

The Byhalia schools in Union county were also closed yesterday due to two suspected cases of infantile paralysis. They are fourth grader Allen Freshorn, in Children's hospital in Columbus with a paralyzed throat and side, and sophomore Martha Fields, taken to Lima Memorial hospital yesterday. Jean Joliff, 13, has been at the Lima hospital under treatment for polio for the last three weeks.

Marion County Case

Marion county health authorities said today the only case of polio reported in the county was at Martel about a month ago, when Charles Sharrock, 10, fourth grade student at Martel school, was stricken. The boy, who lives with his grandmother, Mrs. Della Sharrock of Martel, is now in Children's hospital in Columbus and is reported to be responding well to treatment. His right leg is affected. Marion city and county school authorities said

PRISON CAMP FUGITIVES BACK IN CUSTODY

Third Kidnap Victim Freed as Four and Girl Companion Captured.

By The Associated Press

MILLERSBURG, O., Nov. 21—Four fugitives from a state prison camp and their 17-year-old girl companion were captured here early today, bringing freedom to a Lancaster, O., man the state highway patrol said was the third person to be abducted by the quintet within 24 hours.

Joseph Stanko, 35, a wounded World War veteran who was robbed at his dry cleaning shop in Lancaster last night, was riding unharmed with the fugitives when Sheriff Wayne D. Starner and Deputy Frank Manley of Holmes county halted Stanko's stolen blue sedan at a highway intersection two miles south of here shortly after midnight.

After their escape from the Mansfield reformatory's camp at Grafton Tuesday morning, the quartet of men picked up the girl at Mansfield and early yesterday used her as a "decoy" hitchhiker in stealing an automobile from William Bell, 21, of Mansfield, and Merle Leddy, 23, of Belleville, whom they forced at gunpoint to ride to Columbus and left bound in a field, the patrolmen said.

Girl from Cleveland

The patrol identified the girl, a tall, blue-eyed blonde, as Sue Ellen Smith, 17, of Cleveland, a friend of Robert Miller, 19, of Cleveland, one of the fugitives. The other convicts were identified as James "Lee" Vendor, 16, and Donald William Burson, 22, both of Canton, and Leland R. Earlenbaugh, 26, of Akron.

Capt. Lawrence S. Bauer of the Lancaster police said he would file charges of armed robbery, grand larceny, auto theft and kidnaping against the four men and the girl.

All five were kept overnight in Holmes county jail and questioned by Prosecutor Raymond Miller of Holmes county early today.

Sheriff Starner said the fugitives offered no resistance when they were stopped, although a shotgun used in the Lancaster holdup was in the car.

Rifle Cash Register

Stanko said one of the men and the girl entered his shop about 9 p. m. last night while he and his wife were closing up. They asked directions to Columbus, Stanko said, then the other men entered and threatened him with a shotgun, rifled the cash register and his pockets of about $240 and forced him to leave with them. They took Stanko's car, abandoning in Lancaster the one stolen earlier near Mansfield, patrolmen said.

The dry cleaner said the convicts "roughed me up a bit" because he didn't want to go with

VET AND BRITISH WAR BRIDE BURNED

In Bucyrus Hospital After Mishap at Sycamore.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Nov. 22—A Sycamore World War II veteran and his wife, a British war bride, were in Bucyrus city hospital today suffering from severe burns following a kerosene explosion in their home today at 6:30 a. m. Hospital authorities reported their condition as serious.

They are Ira Schifer, 23, and his wife, Ivie, 19. The accident happened, according to reports, when the couple attempted to pour kerosene from a five gallon can on a fire in their cook stove. The can exploded, throwing burning kerosene over their bodies. Both Mr. and Mrs. Schifer ran out of the house. Mrs. Schifer was successful in extinguishing her burning clothing and covered her husband with a rug before driving to the home of Nelson Moody, a neighbor, for help. The neighbors took both Mr. and Mrs. Schifer to the hospital.

The explosion spread burning oil through the kitchen, which was badly damaged before neighbors were successful in extinguishing the flames.

Mrs. Schifer came to this country in April. The couple was married in England in July, 1945 while Schifer was stationed there with the Army. He had been working on a Farm Bureau building project in Bucyrus.

Soft Coal Pits Idle As UMW Strike Begins

400,000 Miners Out as Walkout Spreads to Anthracite Fields.

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21—A general walkout by the United Mine Workers shut down the nation's soft coal industry today.

The 400,000 United Mine Workers in the bituminous fields predicated their walkout upon what John L. Lewis regarded as a termination of the union's contract with the government. Traditionally the miners do not work without a contract.

The walkout spread into the anthracite field of Pennsylvania, with 7,500 employes of eight large mines quitting work. The hard coal industry employs 80,000 miners, who are under a contract separate from the bituminous one.

The situation in the fields was generally calm. Miners simply failed to show up at the pits.

Strike "Definitely On"

A representative of the solid fuels administration said at Pittsburgh that the walkout is "definitely on."

Paralysis spread through coal-producing states across the nation with the termination by John L. Lewis and his United Mine Workers union of their contract with the U. S. government. The miners do not work without a contract.

Even before the midnight deadline set by Lewis, some 140,000 miners had laid down their tools in 13 states.

Since most miners start their work-day in daylight hours, the effectiveness of the walkout remained to be determined during the day. On all sides there were signs the stoppage would be complete.

Government notices asking miners to stay on the job still clung to mine bulletin boards. These said the contract was still in effect, for the duration of government possession of the mines. The government took over the mines last spring to end the last big coal work stoppage.

Night shift workers signalled the start of the walkout last night by failing to report for work or by arranging to end their shift before the midnight deadline.

Several thousands of them did not enter pits in Pennsylvania and West Virginia, the greatest producing states, and similar reports came from other coal areas.

Illinois Shutdown Complete

In Illinois, a survey of United Mine Workers leaders in an 11-county area in which 18,000 UMW members were employed, showed the shutdown complete, but the Progressive Mine Workers, who claim 18,000 working members there, stayed on the job.

The walkout of 1946 is the eighth to hit the soft coal fields since 1941.

Reports from the field gave every indication miners everywhere would go along with Lewis in his tug of war with the government.

Many large mines in Pennsylvania and West Virginia which between them have half of all UMW soft coal miners, were among those closed earlier this week. This was true also of Kentucky, with 50,000 UMW workers.

In the Far West, an estimated 6,400 miners in Colorado ended at midnight workshifts that usually end at 12:45 a. m. Forty-three hundred miners in Wyoming also came off the shifts earlier to avoid being on company property after the Lewis deadline.

The walkout got underway with some miners grim, others in good spirits as they left the pits in Pennsylvania for what many believed may be a protracted work stoppage.

Lima Man Acquitted In Indian Lake Death

By The Associated Press

BELLEFONTAINE, O., Nov. 21—Herman Clyde Laycock, 34, Lima floor-covering salesman, was acquitted yesterday of second degree murder charges in the death last June 17 of his divorced wife, Clella, 35, a Chicago store clerk.

A five-day trial in which the state accused Laycock of beating his ex-wife and throwing her body into Indian Lake ended late yesterday with Judges Meade C. Robinson of Bellefontaine, Marion Owen of Urbana and Paul Klapp of Troy agreeing unanimously to free Laycock, who had been held in jail since June 18 in default of bond.

SPARE TIRE COMES BACK

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—The civilian production administration has decided that after Dec. 16 new automobiles may be sold with a spare tire and tube for the first time since 1942, when wartime restrictions were imposed.

END OF SILENT DAY — John L. Lewis, boss of the nation's miners, is shown as he left his offices in the United Mine Workers headquarters at Washington yesterday with nothing more to say to news reporters than he had to tell the U. S. government or his miners in the labor crisis arising from the disaster-laden shutdown of the country's bituminous coal fields.

FOUR ESCAPE AT LANCASTER

13 Others Recaptured After B.I.S. Boys Stage Mass Break.

By The Associated Press

LANCASTER, O., Nov. 21—Four of 17 Boys Industrial School inmates who ripped a door from their cottage and fled were at large today. The other 13 were recaptured within six hours of the break—largest at the school this year.

Supt. Harold L. Hayes said the four boys were Ralph Kelly, 16, of Dayton; Donald Soyles, 17, of Cleveland; Carl Byrd, 15, of Cincinnati; and Robert Cole, 15, of Detroit.

All of the boys who escaped last night were serving for serious offenses or had attempted flight previously, and for those reasons were assigned to a "discipline squad" cottage, Hayes said.

Shortly after supper the boys gathered on the first floor of the cottage and during the absence of an attendant yanked off a door and fled into the nearby woods and fields, Hayes reported.

Ten of the 27 cottage inmates did not participate in the break. Seven of the fugitives were captured within three hours, and another six by 1 a. m. today.

In the latter group was Earl E. Nicely, 15, of Xenia, who was found at the bottom of a cliff near the institution's dairy barn and was taken to the school hospital with injuries he apparently received in falling.

Reams Says Break Points Out Need Of Marion Prison

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 21—State Welfare Director Frazier Reams today blamed "overcrowded conditions and lack of an effective discipline or training program" for the escape last night of 17 boys from the Boys' Industrial School at Lancaster.

"The solution to the problem," Reams said, "is establishment of a medium security school such as is proposed for the Scioto Ordnance Works at Marion.

"By segregating the older, tougher youths at Marion and reducing the population at Lancaster to its capacity of 500 boys, we will be able to integrate our training program to offer through sterner discipline at Marion some deterrent to escapes from the Lancaster school."

Reams pointed out that the disciplinary cottage from which the youths made their mass break represented the maximum discipline of the B.I.S. and that upon the youths' recapture they would be returned to the same place from which they escaped.

Reams added that he "was entirely satisfied" with the administration of Supt. Harold L. Hayes at the B.I.S., which now has a population of 800.

MOVE TO RATION COAL

CINCINNATI, Nov. 21 — Coal dealers instituted a voluntary rationing system today in a move to conserve supplies on hand which they estimated would last "for several weeks."

U. S. PREPARES CASE FOR COURT ACTION ON WALKOUT TODAY

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—The government moved quickly to cite John L. Lewis for contempt of court today as a general walkout of UMW miners occurred in the soft coal mines.

Reports from the field indicated some anthracite miners were joining the 400,000 bituminous diggers in a stoppage that could eventually touch all industry. Work suspension came in the face of government pleas to keep the mines going.

Lewis, who disregarded a court order to restore the effectiveness of the miners' contract with the government, continued silent.

Stays at Virginia Home

The United Mine Workers boss was at home in suburban Alexandria, Va., and as the morning passed there was no indication that he planned to come into his Washington union headquarters. There were indications there that Lewis may have made arrangements for an extended absence from his office. It was known that he spent much of yesterday answering mail and otherwise clearing his desk of pending business.

By noon today, government attorneys were expected to go before Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough and petition for a contempt citation that might subject him to fine or imprisonment.

However, midday came and went with the government attorneys still in consultation and indications were that there would be some delay in their appearance in court.

Judge Goldsborough disposed of routine matters before him during the morning and adjourned his court for the day shortly before 12 noon. He left the court building for lunch but aides said he would be in his chambers later in the afternoon.

Orders went out to cushion the impact of a prospective coal famine.

Return To Wartime

Federal Works Administrator Philip B. Fleming ordered a return to wartime heating and lighting strictures in all federal buildings throughout the country which depend on coal.

Fleming said he would seek to reduce temperatures to the wartime level of 68 degrees. The order affects approximately 300 buildings in the capital alone.

The civilian production administration prepared a directive designed to help ration artificial gas, produced from coal. The same agency pondered an electricity conservation order.

The civilian production administration prepared a directive designed to help ration artificial gas, produced from coal. The same agency pondered an electricity conservation order.

Awaits Word from Clark

Assistant Attorney General John Sonnett awaited only the word from Attorney General Tom Clark before presenting the contempt citation before Judge Goldsborough.

The petition, it was learned, was drawn up by Clark, Sonnett, and other government lawyers.

The finishing touches were applied at a staff conference this morning.

In all-out action, the administration was reported also preparing to seek punishment for any local union leaders or others who are found to be encouraging a strike.

A high authority said this is the government's operating plan under President Truman's instructions to "fight this one out to the finish:"

1. Before the day's end, justice department officials will go before U. S. District Judge T. Alan Goldsborough and ask for a contempt citation against Lewis. If Lewis should be found in contempt for non-compliance with a court order he could be fined or sent to jail—to stay until he purged himself of contempt, if the judge so ordered.

Issued Restraining Order

It was Goldsborough who on Monday issued an order directing Lewis to recall his "termination" of the United Mine Workers (AFL) contract, effective last midnight. Lewis did not recall it.

2. Evidence is being collected with a view to prosecuting under the Smith-Connally act anyone, from Lewis on down, whom the government may contend is encouraging a strike. The Smith-Connally law forbids encouraging or inciting a strike in a government-operated mine or plant. Conviction carries a penalty of $5,000 fine or a year in jail.

3. Study is being given to the possibility of "freezing" the United Mine Workers $12,500,000 union fund, and this will be done if a way can be found around "legal technicalities."

Troops Stand Ready

In the mounting crisis, U. S. troops stood ready to move into the coal fields to prevent violence—but not to mine coal. Unit commanders were alerted.

Government officials also kept an anxious ear to the ground for any manifestations of a general upheaval by labor. The AFL with

MINERS FACE LOSS OF JOBLESS PAY

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 21—Soft coal miners who failed to report for work today not only faced the possibility of a lean Christmas but they also lacked the certainty of unemployment insurance to cushion the hardships of a long winter-time walkout.

Whether they could get jobless pay apparently depended on which state they lived in. Some states flatly deny payments but in others, compensation depends on official rulings whether a labor dispute has caused the idleness.

Labor experts differed on how long John L. Lewis' coal miners could hold out in a fight-to-the-finish strike.

On one point most of them agreed: the miners generally lead a hand-to-mouth existence, even at top pay of $75.25 a week, and few have cash reserves in the bank.

But—in past strikes, notably in last spring's 59-day walkout, the miners and their families have undergone little if any actual suffering from hunger.

For one thing, the thrifty wives usually keep a "war chest" of supplies stored away in the cupboards against just such a rainy day. Then, too, a good many of the miners are skilled hunters—and the pits lie in some of the finest hunting land in the country.

Eastern Ohio Coal Fields Closed In Total Shutdown

By The Associated Press

BELLAIRE, O., Nov. 21—The eastern Ohio coal field, which produces 75 per cent of Ohio's tonnage, was shut down completely today, and reports indicated a walkout of miners had halted operations in other Ohio pits.

Approximately 15,000 of the state's 20,000 miners are employed in the eastern Ohio field.

Ford Sampson, commissioner for the Ohio Coal Operators' association, said a survey of the eastern Ohio mines showed every one was down.

The miners, who earlier had said they were taking a "vacation," would not talk about the situation, which followed the action of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, in terminating a government-union agreement for manning the mines.

Headquarters of District 6 of the UMW in Columbus said:

"No comment."

An exception was David Christian of Nelsonville, UMW district representative in Division One of District Six, who said of the 3,000 Hocking valley miners:

"There's no contract, so they won't work."

CBS ASKS DISMISSAL OF DISSOLUTION SUIT

By The Associated Press

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 21—An attorney for the Columbia Broadcasting System said today he had asked federal district court to dismiss a $33,063,048 civil suit which seeks the dissolution of CBS.

Squire R. Ogden, Louisville attorney representing CBS, said he filed a formal motion for dismissal of the suit brought Oct. 30 by Sam Morris, Dallas, Tex., evangelist, and Henry M. Johnson, Louisville attorney.

The suit accused CBS of "unjust discrimination" in selling radio time to the Schenley distilling interests and in allegedly refusing to sell time to prohibition forces for anti-liquor broadcasts.

The petition asked that $18,000,000 of Columbia's surplus funds be impounded and that the petitioners be awarded judgment of $15,063,048 for use in broadcasting programs in the "public interest," including anti-liquor broadcasts.

Ogden said the principal ground on which he was seeking dismissal of the suit is that CBS, which has headquarters in New York, "is not doing business" in the jurisdiction of the federal court for the western Kentucky district.

The word dunce is derived from the name of a famous scholastic professor of biology at Oxford, Joannes Duns Scotus.

Senate Republicans are expected to go along generally with such changes. And Senator Elbert Thomas (D-Utah), former chairman of the labor committee, indicated that he and many other Democrats recognize that some alterations are in order.

Thomas said he doubts that any legislation will be effective in bringing about a settlement of the dispute between John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers and the government.

"This is not the sort of thing that can be settled by any new law," he said.

Boyle Asks: Who's Afraid of the Subway Wolf?

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

[illegible]RK, Nov. 21—The [illegible] that beast in hu[illegible] who pinches pretty [illegible] cars—is prowling [illegible] again. He's got the [illegible] transportation so wor[illegible] considering putting a [illegible] men [illegible] on [illegible] ess [illegible] rush [illegible] do [illegible] of [illegible] one- [illegible] ves [illegible] they [illegible] rath- [illegible] ched [illegible] boys [illegible] their chances.

Hal Boyle

"[illegible] take care of our[illegible]" [illegible] out of five said. [illegible] that a cold stare [illegible] any nonsense from the [illegible] Rapid Transit Romeo and [illegible] extreme cases a good hard [illegible] their high-heeled shoes [illegible]ked.

[illegible] course, you have to be [illegible] you kick in a crowd[illegible]" she said.

[illegible] who opposed the in[illegible] "Women Only" cars [illegible] to them too much [illegible] Crow" solution.

"[illegible] believe in segregation [illegible]," said one pretty sub[illegible] and added frankly:

"[illegible] would take the fun [illegible]. It gives us a dash to [illegible] with men during the day. [illegible] to ride with girls all [illegible] time."

Another young lady dismissed the whole proposal with two words:

"Oh, foo!"

People, Not Wolves

"It isn't the men who bother you so much—it's just people, too many people in the cars," said a chubby young office worker. "I'm more afraid of having my eye poked out by an umbrella in a carfull of women than I am of any subway wolf.

"Some women push and shove harder than the men during rush hours."

But a tall brunette from Nebraska said she'd welcome a sorority car.

"I've been pawed and pawed. It happens often here. I never had any trouble like that in Omaha."

Exciting Idea

A girl from the old south remarked that it was "a considerate and exciting idea for somebody to treat women as ladies again." However, she thought personally she wouldn't ride in such a car when traveling with her boy friend.

"I might lose him to a blonde in one of the co-educational cars," she said.

A woman in her mid-thirties put the whole thing on a philosophical basis.

"It might be a good thing for small girls or aged and infirm women," she said, "but after all any woman who's been in New York any time at all learns how to meet situations so she doesn't get pinched or manhandled.

Act Quickly

"The thing to do is to dispose of mashers before anything happens. If a man gets too fresh in a crowded car, you can always look him in the eye and say loudly and clearly, 'Take your hands off me.' He'll get off at the next station."

The lady looked a little dreamily out the window.

"Of course," she continued, "there's all the difference in the world between an agreeable and a disagreeable masher. A few wolf calls don't hurt. As a matter of fact, I don't hear as many wolf calls when I go down the car aisles as I did a few years ago. . . ."

One veteran subway rider—distinctly male—made an angry counter-proposal.

"Let those female fuss-budgets sit on the roof if they feel safer," he said. "How about a smoking car for the men, with a bar and maybe a couple poker tables? I'd pay a dime anytime to ride on a subway like that."

The present fare is a nickel.

Stabilizing Inflation

IF federal taxes cannot be reduced, inflation in government spending will be stabilized at wartime levels.

It would mean keeping taxes at least as high as they were throughout the war, with such increases as might be dictated by declining revenues as the war boom collapsed.

It would be an attempt to do in public finance what was attempted in private business and industry; i. e., to freeze costs at unnaturally-high wartime levels.

Every proposal for reducing taxes and for justifying a reduction with a cutback in spending would be assailed as a threat to security. The United States would be in the same position as a family unable to shrink its budget to conform with a shrinking income.

THE dream of stabilizing inflation is a favorite one, but it never has come true. Governments have carried the illusion to great lengths, but ultimately it has been destroyed by the impact of reality. The United States, whose deficit spending has given it a national debt of such huge proportions it cannot be retired, now must decide between illusion and fact. It can maintain the illusion by continuing to cheapen its money with inflation, or it can honor the fact by attempting to restore the value of its money, with retrenchment. The latter would be hard at first, easy later. The illusion would be easy at first, hard later.

Indian Summer

THERE are still a few diehards insisting that Indian summer cannot occur until there has been at least one fall of snow. They are still waiting for Indian summer to start, though it now is ending.

The fall of snow is a technicality, subject to local conditions. Snow has fallen generally in the areas where Indian summer occurs. The mere fact it may not have fallen in a particular locality means nothing.

A more satisfactory line of demarcation between late fall and Indian summer is temperature. There can be no Indian summer until the thermometer has gone well below 32 degrees, which constitutes squaw winter.

We have had squaw winter, Indian summer and some to spare. Now we will have real winter—and plenty to spare.

Cigar That Lit the Way

THERE is agitation in England for a giant statue of Winston Churchill to be erected on the Dover cliffs with a permanently-lighted cigar to guide channel shipping. There also is, understandably, agitation to skip the cigar.

That would be a mistake. The Churchill cigar became a wartime symbol of the first magnitude, a light for the faint-of-heart. Its inclusion in a memorial to the statesman who refused to give up the empire, his beliefs, his cigars, or anything else he valued would be a decision of extreme farsightedness. Jokes would be made, and British taste would be assailed by superior critics. It would be pointed out that Winnie, with the cigar, was an embarrassment in statuary just as Winnie was an embarrassment in life. But ships at sea would be guided by it and in a generation or two the jokes would lag and British taste would accept Churchill in bronze just as it finally came around to accepting him in the flesh, cigar and all. One far-distant vote for the cigar, cousins.

Those Were the Days, Etc.

WHEN Jimmy Walker resigned as mayor of New York under pressure during an investigation of his administration by the order of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932 and fled to Europe while things cooled off, his city was sorry to see him go. It disapproved of what had gone on under his free and easy rule, but it thoroughly approved of Jimmy.

Its approval was for his personality, his wit, glamor and disinclination to take himself and his contemporaries too seriously. Everything about him was in contrast to the personality of the acting mayor who succeeded him, J. V. McKee, the lumbering John P. O'Brien who followed McKee, and the preachy Fiorello La Guardia, who ran the city from 1934 to 1945. New York never forgot Jimmy Walker. It was still thinking about him when it finally turned thumbs down on LaGuardia. He had been called the best administrator New York ever had, but he wore out his welcome by taking himself too seriously.

Jimmy Walker is dead. Many will recall the good old days. They will have forgotten the mishandling of money, which seems relatively unimportant this many years afterward. They will remember only the man who personified what they thought and he thought was the spirit of a great city. They will muse that there is more to being a mayor than bookkeeping; that bookkeepers can be hired, but personalities must be discovered.

News Behind the News

By PAUL MALLON

Decontrol Drive May Be Pushed Too Far.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21—The allocator Mr. Small (CPA) was in a private meeting with members of the American Railway Car Institute. He wanted them to make more railroad cars. They said they could not unless he allocated more steel to them because more cars could not be made without more steel. Mr. Small excused himself saying he had to go to the White House.

Behind him, Mr. Small left his assistant to talk to the car people. He explained he could not speak for CPA yet he felt certain no increased allocation of steel for cars would be made by the government because there was a good chance the White House would kick all government controls into the discard next Jan. 1—leaving only the housing administration in which materials could be allocated to the most needed production. It means Mr. Truman was contemplating following up the abandomnent of OPA with the civilian production administration, thus leaving everyone to scramble for short materials in a sort of devil-take-the-hindmost scramble, although usually the devil gets more than the hindmost in such an affair.

The very next day the newspapers published stories obviously inspired by the government suggesting Economic Stabilizer Steelman would even fly to Florida with a directive abandoning directives, so urgent was deemed the need for haste.

Little Hints

Certain business and objective thinking authorities outside the White House have thus begun to wonder. Several peculiar little things have happened since election to suggest dejection or perhaps anger or resentment among White House advisors or an inclination to go too far. One source had quoted Paul Porter, the OPA administrator, as saying he would like to stay around to see the Republican Senator Taft break a bottle of champagne over the first soup kitchen. Some of the papers have suggested Porter has become the fairhaired lad of the White House, which, if true, would be unfortunate because a defeated negative policy, such as he has advocated, could hardly be expected to generate production or national hope in a time like this, of economic crisis. Mr. Truman would have to get advisors who thought here was a chance to succeed before he could hope to inspire anyone with thoughts of possible success. Such thoughts are being privately expressed here.

Whether or not the published reports are accurate, the stock market certainly has lacked inspiration the past few months. The talk around Wall Street indicates the financial bettors think we are in for a period of profitless prosperity. Not even the Republican promise of an individual income tax reduction raised hopes there or prices.

A fear certainly exists that some administration leaders may have interpreted the election returns too deeply. While the prominent and highly regarded leaders certainly can be expected always to place national welfare above their personal political dejection, they are subject to pressure and influence from some aids who might not want to straighten things out too much "for Republicans" (really the country itself), but would rather prove themselves right.

A politico is a human being, and a human, after a crushing defeat, even if it is due to his own mistakes alone, is hardly in a mental position to generate inspirational impetus for an economy.

Country's Problem

The problem before the country is restoration of production. The consideration of how to get it should dominate all policies—exclusively. OPA was abandoned in accord with that theory—belatedly on the eve of an election to push out food. It did exactly that. Food and meat are now available. But it is an entirely different thing to remove all government controls on the allocation of materials to essential use before any worthwhile degree of production has been achieved. If we need railway cars, the government should allocate as much steel as it can (deciding on the basis of supply and need) to get as many cars as it considers to be necessary. To throw the steel market open (a seller's market, mark you)), would not be in the public interest. No one has economically demonstrated it would get more production, but would only remove from business this troublesome government restraining hand. Essentials and necessities should get girst call until the time the production is able to take care of more than these vital needs. The government is in a position to do it fairly in the public interest. The government, for an instance from its own history, did not turn rents loose for bidding and bedeviling while there are not enough houses to go around. How much a footloose distribution of gravely short materials would help production is certainly open to question.

The thing has gone further than you think. Indeed an AFL official, Robert Watt, has told the grocer manufacturers (New York, Monday) in another connection, that the greatest danger today to both management and labor is that the politicians will try to shift the weight of government authority to someone else (he said to business against labor because he was speaking about the union phase of the matter).

Without Inconvenience Or Obstetrician

A 43-year-old Texas lady has just given birth to her 25th child.

She's waging a one-woman war against the declining birth rate.

With the aid of a few more such prolific patriots, we'll have won the battle of reproduction.

Twenty-five children . . . the storks must not have a union, else they'd be picketing her.

After giving birth to the latest, this Henrietta Kaiser of the maternity ward was up bright and early next morning, preparing the family breakfast. After the two dozenth offspring, childbirth doesn't even serve to relieve the monotony of one's daily routine.

It many of Texas' daughters follow this one's example, residents of the Lone Star state will have to stop singing of it's "wide, open spaces."

What Will We Use for Money?

By RAYMOND MOLEY

THE main defect in the optimistic fiscal promises of Republican house leaders is the assumption that we can enjoy the income benefits of higher prices without paying for them in federal expenditures. The house leaders are talking about eating their cake and keeping it, too.

One of the great surprises in the President's revised budget estimates of August, 1946, was the rise in anticipated individual income tax receipts for the fiscal year 1947. In the President's January budget message, these receipts were estimated at $12,874,000,000. In August they were increased to $18,367,000,000. This made up the greater part of the increase—from $33 billion to $41 billion—in the total anticipated revenues. Apparently, the Republicans believe that the larger figure will apply to the next fiscal year. This is an extremely dangerous assumption.

Basic Factors

The tremendous national income of 1946, which will be higher than the highest of the war years, is based on several factors which are not likely to recur. It is, in part, based on something that the optimists themselves intend to reduce — government spending. It is based on the prices that ran away from Chester Bowles and rose again after ceilings were lifted. It is based on the spending of money saved by individuals in war years.

Moreover, if we are to get $40 billion from federal taxes after the rates are cut by 20 per cent, we shall have to have sharp wage, price and other increases from July, 1947 to July, 1948. A preponderance of opinion among economists is that such increases are not likely. Many wise heads believe that there will be decreases. Certainly, there will be some decline in agriculture. Secretary Anderson has already told us to expect agricultural surpluses in the latter half of 1947. He has also said that he expects the demand for agricultural products to turn downward. This means that the purchasing power of agriculture will decline.

Moreover, if we are to have any considerable number of strikes, our national income in 1947 must be affected adversely. Only an industrial peace that passeth all understanding can keep the purchasing power of industrial workers at 1946 level.

If we are to have further wage increases, we can assume that even the August figure of the cost of government must go up by a billion or so because of increased prices of what government must buy. That increase would certainly go on into the prices paid by government in 1947.

Those who are suggesting a 20 per cent cut in individual income tax rates say that such a cut will increase business, presumably by increasing investment money and purchasing power. In short, investment money would be available among big income taxpayers and purchasing money among small income taxpayers.

With reference to investment money, it is doubtful whether such additional investment supply is needed or would substantially help. There is plenty of capital available at low rates. As one wise economist says, "You can pull money into business; you can't push it."

As to more money for purchasing, there is plenty of purchasing power now. The issue is lack of things to buy. More money in the hands of small buyers will mean more material for inflation, as long as commodities are scarce.

The decisive question is where and how to cut expenditures.

Sullivans Are Popular

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO—The Sullivans are moving in on San Francisco's city government, especially the J. J. Sullivans. Two men of that name are now members of the city board of supervisors and a third is president of the fire commission.

The president of the police commission is J. F. Sullivan, and there are 115 Sullivans on the city payroll, including six John J's and 20 Johns.

The city comptroller, happily named Harry Ross, keeps them separate by a system of numerals.

Neglect of Western Europe

By WALTER LIPPMANN

WHAT are we to make of the fact that British Foreign Minister Bevin's critics on the back benches say that American imperialism is leading Britain into trouble and that Secretary of State Byrnes has been criticized by Henry Wallace, on the ground that British imperialism is leading America into trouble?

The easy thing to do is to pretend to be amused, pointing out how neatly the charges cancel each other out, and then to be indignant and say that "fellow travelers" are dividing Britain from America in the interest of the Soviet Union.

But it will be wiser to recognize that these incidents are the symptoms of a deeper trouble, and not to imagine that by refuting the arguments we have disposed of the trouble.

For though the British-American partnership is indissoluble, we must not suppose that automatically it will therefore be a happy and successful marriage. The back benchers or the Labor party who complain about America, and the followers of Henry Wallace who complain about Britain, may be the most outspoken, but they are not the only, nor are they the most imoortant, representatives of the divisions and the disharmonies within the British-American partnership.

Dependable

Nothing could be further from the truth than the idea that, except among left wingers, the partnership is solid and dependable. If on both sides of the Atlantic we hug that delusion, we shall neglect the immense constructive effort of statesmanship which has now to be made if the complex interests of the British commonwealth and empire are to be harmonized successfully with the far-flung and as yet dimly defined interests of the United States.

If any one thinks that the difficulty is only on the left, he should refresh his memory by reading the debates, and studying the votes in congress and in parliament on the British loan. He will then recall that the British Conservative leaders accepted the loan reluctantly and that a very large number of Conservatives refused to vote for it; he will recall that the Republicans who now control congress were preponderantly opposed to the loan.

Surely, this is a clear indication that the British-American partnership has to be tended to, that it has to be worked out seriously, that it cannot be taken for granted, that a common front against Soviet expansion will not, in itself, suffice.

We shall make a great mistake if we depend on Russian Foreign Minister Molotov to keeu us united. Byrnes and Bevin have, I venture to think, been hypnotized by Molotov, to a point where tney have devoted to him energies which should have been devoted to the reconstruction of the western world.

Their error has not been in opposing Russians at Trieste, on the Danube, in eastern Europe, at the Dardanelles, and in Iran. Their error has been in neglecting to deal with Germany, with the position of France, Belgium, and the Netherlands, with the problem of empire in the Middle East.

The way to oppose Russian expansion was to consolidate the west, not by arguing interminably about the municipal government of Trieste. The way to lift the iron curtain, and bring about the withdrawal of Soviet domination in eastern Europe, was to begin the construction of a European system in which eventually a free Poland, a free Austria, a free Hungary and Yugoslavia could take their places.

Hold Best

The best party of Germany and the most advanced part of Europe is within the orbit of British and American influence and leadership. That was the place to begin the work of settlement and reconstruction.

There Molotov had no veto, and there we could have had the initiative, and there we could have created a Europe structure which Molotov would have had to reckon with in all his dealings with the Europeans who live in eastern Europe.

When the reconstruction of western Europe was well advanced would have been the time to have a showdown about Trieste, which is neither an Italian nor a Slovenian but a European port, and about the Danube, which is a great European river.

Then a settlement of Trieste and of the Danube would have meant fitting them into the structure of European order. But since there is no European structure there is no solution at Trieste and on the Danube, no matter what verbal formulae are worked out at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

Then too, and most important, the British-American partnersnip would not have rested negatively on the quarrel with Molotov, but positively on a great joint effort of reorganization and reconstruction. Bevin and Byrnes would be invulnerable to the charge that each is dragging the other side into a senseless war.

If they had devoted themselves to a European settlement which recreated a European system, there would be no danger of war. The Europeans, who would be the first victims of such a war, would be there to prevent it. There would be no likelihood of the partition of the continent by the non-European great powers. For a reconstructed Europe cannot be partitioned.

Would that, on both sides of the Atlantic, there were elder statesmen who, realizing the deep necessity of the British-American partnership, were at the same time aware of its difficulties, and alive to its opportunities. They have been sadly lacking in the postwar world.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Letter To a Minnesota Mother

"MRS. STANLEY SCHNELLE, a housewife of Olivia, Minn., wrote a letter to Cardinal Speilman, who turned it over to Secretary of State Byrnes as a Big Four member and United Nations official. In it she told of her son Gordon's death fighting with the Marines. 'I often wonder what heaven looked like to those tired boys coming in from the battle. I think of what they died for. I think of the work left to be done. Now it is up to us. Pray now for God to guide Secretary Byrnes in his work for peace. I pray for the little people. I pray for a just peace soon,' she wrote."—News item.

• • •

Dear Mrs. Schnelle:

It isn't up to me to answer your letter, but I just felt like dropping you a line. Letters like yours are needed by the peacemakers. They and UN are going to take a lot of praying. Gosh, here is UN with the greatest job in history on its hands, not even able to agree on a prayer to open its sessions!

UN needs some Mrs. Schnelles around. It needs the spirit of some kids like Gordon Schnelle. It needs a few housewives and mothers to call the turn, put the finger on the doubletalk and point the way. The diplomats are in a tough spot, and they mean well, but they lack the simple honesty of the mothers and kids. I sometimes think the best influence a United Nations sessions could come under would be that of a housewife from the country, just moving through the corridors with her apron on, a homemade apple pie in her hand.

These official delegates have to think of what the press, the radio and the critics will say of what they do. They have to consider spheres of influence. The soldiers and their moms knew no spheres of influence when the big call came. The mothers and sons knew no debates, no resolutions, no counter-resolutions, no long-winded speeches which had to be interpreted in 51 tongues before anything further could be done. They knew nothing of agendas. If there had been an agenda for them, it would have read "On the double!"

• • •

You wonder what heaven looked like to the weary kids coming in from the front. Well, Mrs. Schnelle, it must have looked beautiful beyond their dreams. It had to. Nothing less would do in view of what they see going on down here on earth now. I think they had to have special provisions for happiness, or they couldn't stand all our skullduggery, the pussyfooting, the slick propaganda and counter-propaganda, the evasions, the doubletalk and all the monkey wrenches being flung into the peace machinery to stymie their hopes and make a mockery of their sacrifice.

• • •

And I guess the boys get a kick out of letters like yours, for all their moms think the same. And how they wish the honorable bigwigs of the earth meeting to bring peace could just get together in the kitchen of an old-fashioned home at baking time, smell the pies and cakes, feel the warmth of a mother's smile, sense her devotion and know the influence of her heart. It might help them to think and act with the same simplicity and honesty of the mothers of the world.

More power to you.

ELMER TWITCHELL

Pettigrew, the Penguin, is in bed with what the doctors call a bad case of blueprint fever aggravated by a touch of superplanitis. It is all the result of those two announcements of the past week, giving all the details of a general rebuilding of Manhattan Island for better traffic conditions and for a super sports arena in Columbus Circle.

"All I can make of it," he said, "is that there are to be three new elevated express highways running directly between the main bout and the semi-final. There will be four crosstown boulevards linking Sonja Henie with the East River Tunnel, the Horse Show and two de luxe hockey games.

Most people don't mind being a little cold this winter if the government will only make it good and hot for John L. Lewis.

President Truman will consider the coal strike threat from Florida, later being joined by other Washington officials. Perhaps the idea is that it will be easier to find plenty of sand down there.

A Dull Life

By TRUMAN TWILL

The black market era is ending, yet we never bought in a black market or saw a black market operator. This will be one more hard thing to explain in the years to come.

We never saw a veteran of World War I selling apples, contrary to the idea that none of them ever had a chance to do anything else.

We never saw Shirley Temple in the moving pictures, nor Rin-Tin-Tin, Pearl White, or Francis X. Bushman.

We never saw Gen. MacArthur or had a chance to chat with him for an hour or so while he told us everything he knew; we are one of the few persons alive who missed this widespread experience.

We never were caught in a speakeasy raid, a chain letter, an elevator stalled between floors, a train in a blizzard, or an overturned automobile. Once, a horse leaned against us in a stall but we kicked him in the knee and he laid off.

We never slept in a bed that George Washington, H. L. Mencken, Gregory Peck, Rita Hayworth or Eugene O'Neill had slept in, to name a few sleepers who come to mind.

No one ever offered to sell us any stolen goods, or stuff right off the boat, or anything else that had to be disposed of in a hurry at a sacrifice.

No one ever mistook us for anyone else, with ensuing complications suitable for story-telling under the heading: One of the Strangest Things that Ever Happened to Me.

We never have been in jail, smoked opium, hashish, Chinese tobacco, taken narcotics experimentally, drunk vodka with a Russian, gone into a coal mine, or spent the night in a Bowery flophouse.

It was not our very great privilege, as the saying goes, to count among "my dearest and closest friends" any of the glamor boys and girls of the radio, stage and screen whose names are known to millions.

We did shake the hand of Calvin Coolidge once, we think, though it might have been someone else's hand, it happened so fast and we were whisked out of the room in such a hurry.

But we never tipped off the FBI to anything, saw a gangster get murdered, were held up by a masked man, arrived first at the scene of an automobile accident, jumped from an airplane, swallowed any money, got any benefit from vitamins, lost a garter at a public dance, almost drowned, were lost in the woods, marooned in a snowstorm, got caught in a burning building, hit a cow with an automobile, came to blows over politics, or won a small fortune by being a fall guy for an audience participation show on the radio.

Furthermore, we never heard a soap opera, were salvaged by the A.A., ran afoul of a bureaucratic agency, rebelled against the hopelessness of conditions, or learned the rest of the words to chickory-chick-cha-la-cha-la. They are going to wonder in the years to come what we ever did do in the good old days. We're beginning to wonder ourself.

Renew Plea Here To Salvage Fat

Another plea was made here today to Marion housewives to increase the salvage of fats as a means of relieving the shortage of soap and for other industrial purposes.

Representatives of the department of agriculture in the office of Elmer F. Kruse at 202 Old Federal Building in Cleveland, declared that "Salvaged fat is so badly needed right now for making industrial products, that we just can't afford to have any slowdown either in saving or processing of this critically needed material.

"The amount of industrial fats available this year is about 22 per cent less than it was in 1942, on a per-capita basis. That means that every woman will have to accelerate her fat saving if she wants to keep the shortage of soaps, automobiles, tires, washing machines and other products from getting worse."

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Child with Cross-Eye

In this day and age there is little reason why any child should have to go through life with cross eye because there are few cases of this beauty-destroying handicap which will not respond to proper treatment IF it is begun early enough.

In fact, perfect results can be obtained in many instances only if correction begins as soon as the defect appears. On the other hand even adults who have cross-eye can be helped by operations which will make the eyes look straight even though they will not restore perfect vision.

In the child, however, there is every chance that normal vision can be secured along with restoration of the appearance. Hence, parents should always take the child to an eye specialist the moment cross-eye is noticed. Early treatment will not only keep the condition from becoming worse, but it may save years of treatment later and, possibly, make operation unnecessary.

According to Dr. Mary Pugh of England, a child who has developed cross-eye, say, between the ages of one and five years, will need to be under careful observation and treatment until he is in his teens. The amount and kind of treatment will depend on the kind of disorder present.

The most essential part of this treatment is to develop full vision of each eye separately.

Development of vision in the eyes is carried out by keeping one eye covered for varying periods of time, and by the use of eye exercises. The second point in the treatment is that eye glasses to correct any error in vision are worn and, if possible, these are fitted to the eyes as soon as the cross-eye is noticed. The glasses may be fitted to the eyes even during the early part of the second year of life.

Operations to correct cross-eye in children at this early age, as a rule, are not done.

The third step in the treatment is to develop what is called normal binocular vision, which means that the child looks at objects with both eyes and then fuses the images. This, as a rule, cannot be undertaken until the child is about five years of age, and is accomplished by the use of exercises.

Finally, in cases which cannot be corrected in other ways, operation may be required and if it is, Dr. Pugh advises that great care must be used in carrying out exercises at home to keep the vision normal.

Cleveland-Marion Couple Wed In Church Ceremony

ANNOUNCEMENT is being made of the marriage of Miss Vida Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Baker of Cleveland, and Harold Garver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Garver of 364 East Mark street.

The ceremony was read in the Olivet Baptist church in Cleveland Saturday, Nov. 9, at 7 p. m., by Rev. D. W. Cazar. Decorating the altar were white gladioli, with palms, and four seven-branch candelabra on each side. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and her attendants were Mrs. Adele King of Strongsville, matron of honor; Jean Kerr, of Carimchaels, Pa., a niece bridesmaid; and Judy Duffy of Cleveland, another niece, flower girl. Owen Creasap Jr. of Marion was best man, and Claude Joy of Marion was usher.

Orwin Moodie of Cleveland presented organ music, playing "Always," "To Each His Own," and the wedding marches. Vocal music by Edward Peck of Cleveland included "I Love You Truly," "Because," and "Till the End of Time."

For her wedding, the bride chose a gown of white satin top, fitted bodice accented by sweetheart neckline, long sleeves pointed over the wrists and buttoning down the back to the waist, and full net skirt ending in a train. A fingertip veil of illusion net was fastened to a crown of orange-blossoms. An arm bouquet of white calla lilies were the bride's flowers. Her matron of honor wore a blude brocade gown with short sleeves, fitted bodice and full skirt, and carried an arm bouquet of mixed pompons and gladioli, tied with satin ribbon, while the bridesmaid wore a rose dress of like design, and carried identical flowers. The flower girl wore an aqua taffeta dress and carried a basket of mixed flowers. A navy blue dress was chosen by the bride's mother for her daughter's wedding, and she wore a white carnation corsage, while the bridegroom's mother was costumed in a royal blue dress. Her corsage was of white carnations.

A wedding reception was held at Norton hall, with the decorations on the table and throughout the room carried out in white and blue. Featured was a three-tier wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom.

On their wedding trip, the couple went by airplane to Detroit, Mich., and for her going away costume, the bride wore a lavendar suit with which she combined black accessories. They will live at 321 South High street in Marion.

Mrs. Garver was graduated from Memminger High school in Charleston, S. C., in 1942. Her husband was graduated from Harding High school in 1942 and for three years served in the Army airforce, with nine months of duty with the 8th Airforce in England.

Those from a distance at the wedding besides members of the wedding party, were Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Kerr of Carmichaels, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Owen Creasap, Mrs. Edward Naven, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Garver Jr. and family, and Mrs. Claude Joy, all of Marion.

Two New Cars Go On Display

Kaiser and Frazer Models Shown at Lawther Agency Here.

Formal showing of the new Kaiser and Frazer automobiles will be held at the Paul Lawther Motors, Marion Kaiser-Frazer agency, at the agency's rooms at 440 East Center street, Friday and Saturday from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m.

A model of both the Kaiser and Frazer will be on display. Both the Kaiser and Frazer have 100 horsepower motors, wheelbases of 123½ inches and all-steel bodies. Other features are safety glass throughout, box frames, self-energizing brakes and extra-wide wheel rims. Both are conventional rear-wheel drive models, with coil springs in front and semi-elliptic, rubber-mounted springs in the rear.

Width of front and rear seats is 62 inches. The rear seat rides an exceptional distance ahead of the rear axle, affording a smoother ride, the makers say. The floor and seat are lower, giving a lower center of gravity.

The front pillar posts have been moved back, increasing the side vision and area of the windshield. The rear window is 44 inches wide. Other features are exterior trigger door handles and inside push-button latches.

Harriman Sees High Taxes As Brake On Inflation Tendency

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Nov 21—Secretary of Commerce W. Averell Harriman asserted today that high taxes should be maintained as a check against inflation.

He told the 22nd annual conference of the New England council that there was need for a review of tax laws which handicap new and growing businesses, but declared:

"Taxes can best be reduced when goods are in greater supply."

Looking to the future with confidence, Harriman said that he could not accept the view of a lot of people that "we are headed for a 'bust'"

"The very fact that so many people are worrying about it gives me reassurance," he said in a prepared address "It is the unexpected that is dangerous"

With the removal of nearly all price-controls, Harriman told the industrialists

"It is now the responsibility of business men to shape their policies to assist in preventing as far as possible, inflationary price increases"

"Profits" he said "should be secondary"

At the same time, the commerce secretary appealed to labor leaders to show "restraint" in demanding wage increases

MURRAY DENIES CIO WANTS TO STRIKE

By The Associated Press

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov 21—CIO President Philip Murray said today the CIO is "not threatening strikes" and is "not running around this nation with a club in its hands, threatening the people."

In a speech to the CIO convention, Murray said to industry:

"Come on; be decent; be gentlemen, sit around the bargaining tables and let us arrive at mutally satisfactory wage agreements without resort to strikes. That is our position. It is not the attitude of the bludgeoned fist, threatening the nation.

Murray spoke after Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, had called for a "common war chest" of $10,000,000 to $12,000,000 to back any single CIO union in a fight for higher wage.

Murray left no doubt the CIO wage fight would be pushed, but he denied that it would "agitate inflation" or "jeopardize our economy."

"There are a lot of notions going around," he said, "that the CIO is bent on engaging in widespread strikes. The CIO wants to make a bargain. We want a fair deal. There is no threat of strikes in the offing. We want decent straight, clean, honorable collective bargaining."

He said the CIO wanted the employers of the nation to "recognize their responsibilties and obligations, adding:

"The owners of great wealth must necessarily have public responsibilities which run beyond their stockholders and coupon clippers."

Murray said the employers "can avert if they will industrial chaos by meeting our representatives in good faith."

PLANE

Two Long-Overdue Planes Hunted in Ohio

CLEVELAND, Nov. 21 — Two airplanes, both long overdue, were sought early today.

One, a cub cruiser carrying two passengers and a pilot, was unreported since 5:08 p. m yesterday when sighted over Essex, Ont. on a flight from Hamilton, Ont., to Pelee Island, in the Canadian waters of Lake Erie.

The pilot was identified only by the last name of Ells, and identity of the passengers was not determined. The plane bore the letters CFFFR. District headquarters of the coast guard here notified stations at Lorain, Marblehead and Sandusky to search for the craft after the control tower at Cleveland airport received word from Hamilton the plane was overdue at Pelee.

The other missing plane is a navy trainer, No. 29580, scheduled to arrive in Cleveland at 3:47 p. m. yesterday from Johnstown, Pa. Its pilot, the only person aboard, was not identified.

State Patrol Tests Set at Findlay Friday

The state highway patrol post here announced today that preliminary examinations for applicants to join the patrol will be held at Findlay, Friday at 9 a. m. Successful applicants will attend the patrol's training school in Columbus starting in January.

Included among qualifications are age 21 to 35; height, minimum of five feet, eight inches; education, high school graduate or equivalent. Further information may be obtained by calling the Marion post.

The post here also announced that two Marion men recently were graduated from the patrol's three-months training course in Columbus. They are Garnet A. Moore, 29, of 293 Bellevue avenue and Milford C. Corbin, 25, of 692 Uncapher avenue. Both are stationed in this district.

LEWIS

its 7,150,000 union members and the CIO with its 6,000,000 had already thrown their moral support behind the UMW chief.

By resolution at its Atlantic City convention, the CIO termed Goldsborough's order an attempt to impose "economic slavery" on the miners.

AFL President William Green, in a statement, declared the order "represents force, violence and the threat of punishment."

"All American labor unites with the mine workers in condemning this reversion to the archaic philosophy of government by injunction," he said.

Lewis Silent to Last

Silent to the last, Lewis permitted the 12.01 a. m. deadline to pass without a word — and without revoking his notice that the government-union pact covering 3,300 soft-coal mines and 400,000 miners was "void" at that hour.

The UMW leader went home to bed at his suburban Alexandria, Va. residence as though it were the end of just another routine day.

A reporter who called at the home in the early evening was informed by a servant

"Mr Lewis is not to be disturbed"

Even before the zero hour, upward of half the miners had walked off their jobs in 13 states.

Truman Orders Citation

Presaging an historic showdown, President Truman sent word from his vacation headquarters at Key West, Fla., instructing the justice department to press for contempt charges against Lewis and signalled other steps in the government's strategy.

Through an aide, Mr. Truman made it clear that he is not budging one inch from his decision to fight Lewis to a finish.

In the wake of the strike, widespread repercussions affecting millions of Americans appeared inevitable. Among others:

An embargo on all freight shipments by rail, except for essential commodities such as food and medicine, was reported imminent.

Brownouts and electricity rationing were forecast for all states east of the Mississippi.

Steel Prepares Emergency

Steel mills with their tens of thousands of workers prepared emergency steps An industry spokesman said most of the mills would close by Dec. 1 if coal supplies are cut off. Coal-burning railroads estimated they have enough fuel for 30 days of normal operations, but some had only a 10-day supply.

One government official said the administration is counting heavily on public opinion to end the strike, and declared that time is running out on Lewis because

1. Congress returns Jan 3, ready to "crack down" on labor-management strife.

2. Christmas is a bad time for a strike.

3. The miners have already lost two months' pay, in last spring's walkout, and a prolonged new strike might not be popular.

4. By quitting work, the miners are losing $600,000 a week on their union health and welfare fund, based on the current payment of five cents a ton for an average 12,000,000 tons per week production.

MORE SUGAR PREDICTED

OHIO MINES

was working in the Hocking valley.

The workmen avoided mentioning their contract dispute with the government. Those who would talk merely said they were "ready for a vacation" and were taking it. Others said they wanted to go fishing.

No Production Expected

Between 1,000 and 4,500 miners in Division One of the UMW District 6 in the Hocking district were reported to be off the job 100 per cent Mine manager said they did not expect any coal production today.

Affected early by the stoppage were the Blaine and Stanley pits near Bellaire, Willow Grove, Dun Helm, Florence, Barton, Webb, Glen, Rail and River's No. 3, Powhatan No. 1 and Campbell Run.

The Misco mine of the Jones Coal Co, employing 600 men, also was closed It is situated south of Crooksville.

There are approximately 20,000 soft coal miners in the Ohio area. The Ohio Coal Association estimated that approximately 6,000 of them stayed away from work yesterday. Other reports increased the total of nearly 8,000.

Deny They're on Strike

The "no contract, no work" slogan usually made much of in miner disputes was missing today. Army men said the men denied they were on strike.

The approximately 50 strip mines in the state were not expected to be affected by the situation.

The state bureau of unemployment compensation has said the miners would not be eligible for jobless benefits.

Morning Papers Give Lewis Hint Of U. S. Action

By The Associated Press

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Nov. 21—The morning newspapers brought John L. Lewis news of what might be in store for him today

While a sidewalk crowd of newsmen and curious watched, a servant emerged from the front door of Lewis' home in this suburban Washington community at 8 a. m., picked up a newspaper on the porch and ducked back into the house.

The headlines on Washington newspapers read:

"U. S. Ready To Jail John L."

"U S To Ask Jail For Lewis."

The lights at the Lewis home blinked out before midnight last night and the UMW boss apparently slept as the second general walkout of miners this year got under way.

The deadline Lewis had set for expiration of his contract with the government passed at that hour without a flutter from his residence

Out in the coal fields his United Mine Workers—those who hadn't quit already—were scrambling off the job in their second staggering walkout of 1946.

No contract, no work is their motto And at midnight, their chief had told them, their contract to work the mines for the government was "terminated."

In the darkened Lewis home nobody stirred at midnight.

Downtown in Washington the government attorneys weer figuring out ways to have the law on John L. Lewis. They said the contract was still good. They said he should be held in contempt of a court injunction telling him to recall that "termination."

Throughout the night nobody had entered the big old colonial frame house nobody had left.

Once a newsman knocked on the door, wishing to inquire whether Lewis would have anything to say. The houseman who responded gave him this word:

"Mr. Lewis is not to be disturbed."

3 CARDINALS ATTEND BISHOP'S JUBILEE

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O. Nov. 21 — Three cardinals and an archbishop were enthroned in the sanctuary of St. Agnes church today as Bishop Edward F. Hoban of the Cleveland Catholic diocese observed the silver jubilee of consecration.

Edward Cardinal Mooney of Detroit, Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, Samuel Cardinal Stritch of Chicago and Archbishop John T. McNicholas of Cincinnati headed a delegation of clergymen.

The day's program opened with a procession of clergy from the rectory office to the entrance of St. Agnes' church. Officials of the chancery office said there had been nothing like it in Cleveland since the Eucharistic congress in the fall of 1935.

There were 400 in the line of march, headed by the seminarians and priests. Behind them came the monsignori, bishops, archbishops and cardinals, all in their brightly-colored vestments

Bishop Hoban was celebrant of the solemn Pontifical mass and Cardinal Stritch delivered the sermon.

Zeal of Bishop Hoban in furthering the interests of the church was emphasized in a letter of felicitations from Pope Pius XII.

The letter read in part:

"With joy we take this wonderful occasion to congratulate you from our heart on the long and fruitful pastoral office you have exercised till now, and for the future we implore for you from the bounty of God every possible happiness and spiritual assistance.

"That the celebration of this occasion may be more beneficial to your people, we heartily grant you the faculty that on the appointed day after the Pontifical mass, in our name and by your authority, you may bless the faithful present imparting to them a plenary indulgence under the church's usual conditions"

Susceptibility Of Adults To Polio Said on Increase

By The Associated Press

CLECELAND, Nov. 21—Adults are becoming increasingly susceptible to infantile parlaysis, Dr. John A. Toomey, head of City hospital's division of contagious diseases, observed today as Cleveland apparently approached the end of its worst poliomyelitis epidemic.

Between last May 22 and the first part of this week, city hospital received 299 polio cases. To aid in their treatment, the national foundation for infantile paralysis sent four full-time physiotherapists and 27 nurses.

Dr. H. M. Dehn, research resi-increasing susceptibility of adults, the adjective "infantile" is scarcely appropriate to describe the paralysis. Twenty years ago, nearly all cases occurred among children under five, 122 between five and nine, 43 between 10 and 14 and 61 over 15.

Dr. H. M. Dehn, sesearch resident at the hospital, said a high percentage of the patients was afflicted with the severe bulbar type affecting vital nerve centers Twenty-five per cent of those paralyzed had bulbar paralysis, 50 per cent had paralysis of the trunk extremities, and the brain was involved in the rest of such cases. Dr. Dehn reported. In 13 per cent of the cases, no paralysis occurred.

COAL STRIKE CASTS SHADOW ON MARKET

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 21—The coal labor dispute continued to cast shadows on today's stock market.

Steels, rails and many industrials dipped fractions to 4 or more points after an active opening. Dealings then slowed as a little support arrived. Extreme losses were reduced in most cases near the fourth hour. A few gainers appeared.

In the declining ranks most of the time were Chrysler, Du Pont, Eastman Kodak, U. S. Steel, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, North American, Anaconda, Schwemley, Southern Pacific and Chesapeake and Ohio.

Reviving tendencies were exhibited by American Telephone, Sloss-Sheffield (on a resumed disbursement), Shamrock Oil, Boeing and Standard Oil (NJ)

Bonds slipped, cotton futures were lower and grains mixed.

Cities Service common and preferred enjoyed a sharp bulge in the curb following announcement of a recapitalization plan. American Gas and American Republics stiffened. Laggards were Aluminum of America, Middle West Corp. and Babcock and Wilcox.

On the big board another batch of pleasing dividends failed to buoy most stocks concerned, the realization here being that the majority of boosted payments were the result of meeting federal tax requirements on reserves. On the other hand, crucible steel common registered a new 1946 low when directors took no action on a dividend.

Galion Rotary Club Hears Talk on Sweden

Special to The Star

GALION, Nov. 21—That there is no black market in Sweden because the people will not buy if an article is a few cents more than it should be, that there are plenty of American made cars in garages for sale, and that there is adequate food in Sweden with some rationing, Elmer Hedeen told the Galion Kiwanis club members, Tuesday noon. Hedeen who is president of the Mansfield Metal Vault Co. and a native of Sweden, paid a visit to that country last summer to see his mother. He also showed pictures of the country. CITY AWARDS SEWER WORK

Youngstown Firm Low Bidder on Clinton Street Project.

The Clinton street trunk-line sewer job was awarded to a Youngstown contracting firm, it was announced yesterday after a meeting of the city board of control. The board is composed of Mayor Harry S. Dowler and Safety-Service Director G. O. Uncapher.

The firm is the Continental Construction Co. and its bid was $78,788.20. It was the lowest of seven bids received, officials said. Several weeks ago bids were returned when two low bidders made apparent errors in their estimates.

Work on the trunk sewer will probably begin Dec. 1. The line will extend from West Center street to Woodrow avenue and is expected to be completed by July 1. Although the contracting company may lay off for a couple of months during the winter, Uncapher said, the part of the sewer from West Center street to the first alley south of Brown avenue, which includes most of the built-up areas along the route, will probably be finished by Feb. 1.

The trunk line will provide an outlet for sewers planned for the following streets: Bennett street, Nye street, Glad street, Fies avenu, Oak Grove avenue, Congress street, Woodrow avenue and West Columbia street. Some of these sewers will probably be started this winter, Uncapher said.

Other bids on the Clinton street sewer are as follows: Utilities Construction Co. of South Euclid, $80,801.10; Haddad Construction Co. of Columbus, $84,548.50; George A. Stein Construction Co. of Chillicothe, $85,260; Del Construction Co. of Shaker Heights, $88,323.40; H. P. Drake of Marion, $89,593; G. K. Kohbarger of Marion, $92,638.60.

GALION COUNCIL STUDIES BUILDING ADDITION PLAN

Problem Being Checked by Streets and Sewers Committee

Special to The Star

GALION, Nov. 21—A discussion was held at city council meeting Tuesday night regarding the width of Hetrick avenue, in the development of the Wade Stevens addition. At the last council meeting, an ordinance passed in 1872 establishing the width of Galion city streets at 66 feet and alleys at 16½ feet, was brought to the attention of council by John Drouth, plumbing inspector. Drouth contended the addition plan of the city, creates dead-end streets and has caused an overloading of the sewers in that district. He had previously asked council to issue an injunction to stop construction of homes on Hetrick avenue. The matter is being investigated by the streets and sewers committee.

Council authorized City Solicitor F. M. Shumaker to draw up necessary legislation for the installation of traffic lights at intersections of Walnut and South Market streets and Atwood and South Market streets.

The C. L. Hopkins plot on Crew avenue and Kroft streets was referred to the streets and sewers committee and the city engineer regarding its acceptance by the city. A petition for street lights on Town Line road was reported favorably by the light committee. Mayor William Amann's report of collections for the past month was $849.65.

Service Director K. A. Polster reported that delinquent bills at City hospital amount to $4,300.

Veteran Employe of Postoffice To Quit After 32 Years on Job

Retirement from active duty effective Dec. 1 will bring to a close 32 years of service for B. G. Wetterauer of 923 Mt. Vernon avenue, clerk at the Marion postoffice. For more than a quarter of a century Mr. Wetterauer has been at the stamp window where he has exchanged friendly greetings with and served residents of the community and on numerous occasions had the opportunity of exchanging U. S. stamps for money with some of the country's renowned.

Mr. Wetterauer's last "work day" will be Friday, Nov. 29, as Saturday is his day off. Looking ahead to his retirement date Mr. Wetterauer relinquished his place at the stamp window to his successor, O. W. Wetzel, several weeks ago in order that the latter could acquaint himself with the work before the holiday rush. Mr. Wetzel, who was on leave from the postoffice to serve in the armed forces, lives at 120 North Greenwood street. Mr. Wetterauer has been working in various departments since leaving his job as stamp clerk.

Started In 1914

When Mr. Wetterauer joined the postoffice staff on April 1, 1914, Marion was considering the erection of a new high school building at a cost of $150,000, folks were laughing at the antics of Mutt and Jeff in the comic strips, General Jacob S. Coxey was preparing to "march on Washington," Mary Pickford was box office, Eleanor Wilson was purchasing a trousseau to become the bride of William G. McAdoo, secretary of the treasury, five-passenger Fords were selling at $565 and the more glamorous models at around thirteen and fourteen hundred dollars.

B. G. WETTERAUER

Mr. Wetterauer's early years at the postoffice were spent as a carrier on route 16, which was in the western section of the city, and route 9 which included the south end of town. When it was his job to deliver parcel post he used a hand cart and when the delivery was too great a distance, old dobbin and a one-horse cart were pressed into service. He took over his duties at the stamp window in 1920 and that summer Warren G Harding's front porch campaign brought the great and near great to Marion. Callers at the window, Mr. Wetterauer recalls, included Henry Ford.

Mr. Wetterauer's 32 years of service have been in the same building He received his appointment as clerk-carrier under the late Frank Campbell, leaving the American Malleable Castings Co. where he had been a moulder for 15 years. Prior to that time he taught school for three years, two in Wyandot county and one in Marion county at the Campbell school west of the city He came to Marion from Wyandot county, where he was born Nov. 2, 1876.

Under Four Postmasters

His years at the postoffice have been served with Postmasters Campbell, French Crow, L. L Lamborn and the present postmaster, Homer D. Cole.

Mr. Wetterauer has three children, Mrs. Mildred Brooks, wife of A. C. Brooks of Chicago, Donald Wetterauer of Chicago, an electrical engineer with the Western Electric Co. of that city, and Dr. Damon E. Wetterauer, a practicing physician in Columbus. Donald Wetterauer served in World War II spending more than a year in China. He was retired with the rank of lieutenant-colonel in the Army. Dr. Wetterauer was graduated from Harvard university. He also has served as a colonel in World War II and saw duty in China for more than a year. He also has four grandchildren. His wife, who was Miss Mary Guthery of near Marysville, died Feb. 16, 1943. A member of the Wesley Methodist church, he has served as secretary of the Sunday school and treasurer of the church for 25 years.

One of the many nice things about his retirement, Mr. Wetterauer thinks, will be escaping the Christmas rush. He agrees that folks for the most part are nice, and the pleasant recollections more than outweigh the unpleasant, but it's still the busiest time and the hardest work in the whole year. Then, too, he may take a trip to Florida this winter, and he will have more time to give to working in his garden and raising more flowers. Also he will have plenty of time for his hobby, attending football games. He is an ardent booster for Harding High school and Ohio State where his children received their education, and right now Saturday, Nov. 23, has a great big circle around it on his calendar for the Ohio State-Michigan game.

Mr. Wetterauer's daughter and children arrived this week and will accompany him to Columbus for the game Saturday, and there will be a family dinner at Mr. Wetterauer's home Thanksgiving Day. Mrs. Brooks is a former teacher in the Marion schools.

Why Bert Won First Prize

Folks weren't surprised when Bert Childers won first prize for his corn at the county fair.

Yet the judges admit it wasn't just because Bert had the finest ears of corn. He knew how to display them: neatly arranged, with the husks cleanly trimmed, and the booth white and spotless.

"Trimmings" sure make a difference no matter what you're offering—as Andy Botkin, keeper of the Garden Tavern, well knows. Andy doesn't just sell good beer. He sells it in a place that's clean and attractive... in nice surroundings that belong with the enjoyment of a wholesome beverage of moderation.

And Andy, of course, is a wholehearted supporter of "Self Regulation." That's the system by which the Brewers and tavern keepers themselves make sure that taverns selling beer are clean and orderly.

From where I sit, people like Andy also rate a "First prize." Not just for the quality of the product —but for the "trimmings" too.

VA'S HOME-TOWN MEDICAL PROGRAM

The extent of medical services which may be rendered to veterans under VA's home-town medicale care program was clarified this week by Dr. Paul R. Hawley, medical director of Veterans Administration.

Under existing legislation, veterans may be furnished out-patient medical or dental treatment in VA clinics, in private offices of physicians or dentists or in their own homes only for disabilities recognized by VA as incurred or aggravated in line of duty in active service. In addition, only prescriptions for service-connected disabilities may be filled at government expense by local pharmacies under VA's home-town service.

The medical facilities of VA regional and sub-regional offices, clinics, and hospitals, under law must be utilized to the fullest extent for examination and out-patient treatment of veterans. The best interests of both the veteran and the government will be considered when deciding whether a veteran residing in an area where there is a VA field station, will be referred to a VA clinic or to a civilian physician. Final decision rests with chief medical officers of VA regional offices.

Veterans may be admitted to private hospitals for in-patient treatment of service-connected disabilities by civilian physicians under contract to VA only if their condition is such as to constitute an emergency which cannot be met by a VA hospital because of the lack of beds or because the patients condition prohibits travel.

Prior authorization for hospitalization and treatment in a private hospital must be obtained by letter, telephone or telegraph. If, owing to the extreme emergency of the case, prior authorization is not obtained, the physician or admitting hospital should notify VA within 72 hours.

Gen. Eisenhower Tells CIO "Some Degree" of Universal Training Needed.

ATLANTIC CITY N J, Nov 21—General of the Army Dwight D Eisenhower declared yesterday "some degree" of universal training was needed until the nations of the world disarmed

Current short enlistments have caused a lowering of army efficiency, Eisenhower said in a speech prepared for delivery to the eighth CIO convention

The general, upon whom some CIO leaders look with favor as a 1948 Democratic candidate for president, said failure now to provide the nation's "interim army" of 1,070,000 men with enough supplies would not be economy — "it is recklessness which we cannot afford"

Eisenhower said

It is my earnest conviction that until concerted disarmament is an accomplished fact, the security of our country as well as the individual chances in the deplorable event of another war demand some degree of military training of all our young men

"I do not mean to stress the subject of war Particularly do I deplore talk about the inevitability of war Such talk smacks of the Hitler technique that brought the world to sorrow and his country to ruin

"It produces hysteria—and no man, no nation, ever acted or thought wisely in the grip of hysterical fear

"But I would be failing in my duty were I to disregard our own bitter disillusionment since 1917 and our need to assume the great burdens that realistic appraisal of conditions forces upon us

Turnover To Great

'One of our present difficulties is that, because of the short term periods of service which congress recently found it necessary to authorize, we have a turnover of well over 40 per cent per annum

* * *

"As you would expect, these short-term enlistments are providing unreasonably expensive due to the large proportion of the individual's service that is spent in elementary training, in transit overseas and in terminal leave

* * *

'Their efficiency is relatively low. Our aim is, then, to procure three-year voluntary enlistments'

In praising labor organization for their wage and hour gains, Eisenhower said

"My own work-week during the year before I entered the army in 1911 was 84 hours"

Asks Restoration Of Newsprint Control

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 20—Marty Berg, chairman of the newsprint consumers emergency committee, yesterday urged President Truman by telegram to restore newsprint to the critical control item group along with rent, sugar and rice

"Thousands of community, fraternal, foreign language, labor, trade religious, veteran and specialized daily and weekly newspapers throughout the country face suspension Jan 1 unless they can secure an adequate supply of newsprint at reasonable price," Berg's message to the President declared.

Analyst Sees Little Hope Of German Peace

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The [illegible] foreign ministers [illegible] down in the work [illegible] Paris and the tentative [illegible] they were to have [illegible] German question has [illegible].

The [illegible] ministers, unable to reconcile [illegible] views on Trieste, are [illegible] ready to let Italy [illegible] try to work it out [illegible]. But for Germany [illegible] to follow the same [illegible] effort to arrive [illegible] agreement among [illegible] then an "advisory" [illegible] of all directly interested nations, after which, presumably, they will again try to [illegible] their own remaining differences plus those injected by [illegible] conference.

What this system of negotiation [illegible] on the intricate problems of Germany remains to be seen. In the light of experience it could just be possible that a general conference first might make for better progress.

Demand Share in Pact

Czechoslovakia and Poland already are demanding that they be permitted to participate in the drafting of the German treaty.

Russia, of course, already has done pretty well by Poland in securing eastern Germany for her in return for the part of Poland which Russia took. But the Poles express continuing interest in demilitarization of Germany and the corollary economic questions.

Holland is demanding rectification of her German border, though largely on a strategic basis rather than with the idea of repayment for the war damage done her.

Luxembourg also has some border claims.

As a matter of fact, every European country has a direct interest.

Economy An Abscess

Meanwhile, Germany becomes more and more of an abscess in the heart of Europe's economy. Brig. Gen. William H. Draper Jr., chief of the economic division of the American military government, says that such economy as has been revived in Germany faces collapse.

"Until boundary questions (including Ruhr and Saar) are settled and the area that is to be the future Germany becomes one economic unit," he says, "the individual parts can never become self-supporting. * * * The fear in Germany today goes deeper than hunger and cold. It is the fear of continued economic paralysis— the fear of continued separation of Germany into four parts."

Gen. Draper doesn't say so, but the fear goes even deeper than that. What the world chancelleries fear is that Germany will be divided into three parts—that which is in and may remain in the Russian sphere, that which may go to France and other border countries, and that which stands the only good chance of becoming future Germany, the present British and American zones.

Russian interests on the one hand and Anglo-American on the other apparently have come to transcend the interests of Europe itself. The Big Four record so far does not encourage the belief that their system is going to provide any sort of German settlement within a reasonable time. They might do better to drop the procedure they have been following, invite the smaller Allies and even the smaller enemies—who were themselves overrun by Germany—and get all the cards on the table before they start the deal.

Says Housing Suffers From Vet Emphasis

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 21—Joseph Meyerhoff of Washington, D. C., president of the National Association of Home Builders, told some 300 delegates to the Ohio Home Builders association convention last night that "Too much emphasis has been placed by the government on new housing for veterans."

"We realize that veterans need adequate and decent shelter," he said, "but the importance of building a great number of new houses is not necessarily that these houses go to veterans, but that the total supply of new homes be increased."

Receive Service Pins at Dinner Meeting Here.

Six employes of the Marion Division of Standard Oil were given service pins in a semi-annual dinner meeting at Hotel Harding Wednesday night.

The pins were presented by J. P. Sharkey, Marion division manager. Harry Glassburn of Tiffin received a 25-year service pin, which also made him a member of the company's Quarter-of-a-Century club. Receiving 10-year pins were Roy Pontius of Upper Sandusky and C. R. Evers of Bucyrus. Miss Georgia Kraner of Marion, Paul Mosier of Tiffin and Robert Moses of Delaware were presented five-year pins.

This was the first service meeting at which persons other than those being honored were present. All employes of the company with less than five years service were also invited. About 55 attended. The Marion division includes all or part of 13 counties.

Dr. O. A. Ohmann, manager of the industrial relation department, from Cleveland, traced the role of the employe in the Sohio's marketing program, using charts to show steps in getting the product to the consumer.

Artists' Colony At Logan To Organize

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Nov. 21—A colony for writers, artists, musicians and dramatists will be established at the edge of scenic Hocking Forest State Park near Logan, O., if present plans materialize.

Proponents who met here yesterday arranged another meeting for Dec. 14 and 15 at Logan. Persons identified with the fine arts in Cleveland, Columbus, Toledo, Dayton, Cincinnati, Canton and Akron are expected to attend.

The colony is conceived as a place where artists, writers and others would be encouraged to undertake creative work in quiet, scenic surroundings. Proponents suggested that a 500-acre tract adjoining the forest be acquired as a site, and that cabins and central dining halls and lounges be erected.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Vets' Farm Training Program Gets Good Response in County

So much interest is being shown in a veterans' agricultural training program for Marion county that three schools may be established in the Marion county area, according to a report made from D. T. Mills, chairman of the veterans agricultural training committee.

Mr. Mills announcement was made following a meeting in the common pleas court room of the court house last night at which 56 veterans expressed a desire to participate in the program. The committee chairman described the response as "overwhelming," and stated plans would begin immediately to set up the program.

50 Take Applications

The 50 veterans who took out application for the training last night were asked to return their applications to the county school superintendent's office by Thanksgiving. Chairman Mills has called a meeting of his committee for Dec. 2 to pass on applications submitted. Officials in charge generally expect the number to be enrolled may reach 60 before it is in full operation.

Tentative plans are underway to set up the first training center at Pleasant Township school. Of the veterans present last night, 31 expressed a desire to meet at Pleasant township school. A spot map of the county is now being made showing the areas where the most of the applicants are located. About 17 of the applicants are from the Morral community, Mr. Mills said, with several others from the Caledonia and LaRue areas. The schools will be located in sections of the county convenient for the most number of enrollees.

To Choose Instructors

Mr. Mills said the committee is considering two candidates for instructors in the schools. The Pleasant township board of education, which attended last night's meeting, is working out details for obtaining a teacher.

Meeting with the veterans and school officials were Warren G. Weiler of the state department of education and Russell G. Zimmerman of Mansfield, assistant training officer for the veterans administration. The men explained the operation of the veterans agricultural training program and the procedure for setting it up in the county. Veterans are financed for their participation in the program through the GI bill of rights.

Upper Council Turns Down U. S. Sewer Aid

Special to The Star

UPPER SANDUSKY, Nov. 21—A federal government offer to advance funds for engineering fees to improve and enlarge the sewer system of Upper Sandusky was refused by the council here in their regular meeting. Reason given was that the city is not financially able to undertake a major sewer project now or in the near future.

A preliminary survey by Floyd G. Browne and Associates, Marion engineering firm, showed an adequate sewer system would require additions and a disposal plant costing an estimated total of more than $400 000.

Acceptance of the federal advance of $14 250 would have obligated the council to complete the project within four years, and to repay the money advanced for the survey as soon as construction on the project was started. The vote to reject was unanimous.

OHIO FARM BUREAU HEARS BISHOP OXNAM

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 21—The Ohio Farm Bureau Federation moved to the final business of its 28th annual convention today—the consideration of resolutions and election of officers—after hearing Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam last night label avoidance of war as "the primary task of this decade."

Bishop Oxnam said there "still is time to avert the crash" toward which the world is drifting, but "the massing of force along the lines of tension," would result only in a "truce before battle."

"Power must be brought under democratic control," declared the bishop, who is president of the Federated Council of Churches of Christ. "Justice must be established by the democratic process."

The first of these steps, he said, "will involve fundamental revisions in our concepts of sovereignty. The second will involve similar revisions in our concepts of property.

The federation yesterday elected Frank Engle of Millersburg a trustee, and reelected to trusteeship W. N. Woods of Maumee, Carl V. Ankney of Paulding (Paulding county), W. E. Stough of Mansfield, Ralph Varian of Canton, Frank L. Cooperider of Glenford (Perry county) and Harry Guthrie of Coolville (Athens county).

Cincinnati Dakotas Edge Marion Cabbies 15 to 13 in Benefit Contest

Local Offensive Bogs Down Despite Early Lead Gained

By GEORGE ROBST

Their offense bogging down in the second half, the Marion Safety Cab A.C.'s, despite jumping to an early lead, were beaten 15 to 13 last night at the stadium by the Cincinnati Dakotas A.C.

That Marion was plainly suffering an off night evidenced itself in the last half when the well conditioned Dakota's ran up a total of 94 yards rushing and passing and four first downs against a net total of 6 yards and no first downs for the Cabbies.

Ivey Plays for Marion

Marion had the services of a capable back, Bob Ivey last night but even this colored star could not win the contest for Marion. Ivey looked like a capable performer in his running, picking out the holes when they opened and scoring Marion's first touchdown

It is seldom that the Marion line is out charged, however the Dakota, last night, sparked by right guard Behr and center Cotterman, were able to do that. Also the Dakotas had the services of two backs Baker and Williams who proved to be powerhouses for their club. Baker was a substitute who did not get in until the second quarter but after entering, he was able to reel off some sizeable gains. Williams, however, was the offensive standout, scoring both of the Cincinnati touchdowns, one on a run of 32 yards.

Bob Strobel Stars

For Marion Bob Strobel turned in a fine defensive performance. He had a hand in stopping all the plays that were sent his way and also assisted in stopping most of the offensive thrusts made by the Dakotas. One of the better tackles of the game was made by this stellar guard in the last play of the third quarter when Marion had their backs to the wall, Cincinnati being on their two yard line. A hole was opened in the Cabbie line but Strobel met Baker coming through, stopping him dead for no gain.

Marion started rolling in the first quarter, when on a sleeper play, Simmons passed to Roseberry. Marion gaining from their own 31 to the Dakota's 18. Belknap tossed an incomplete pass and Ivey on a right end run picked up eight. Williams got seven and a penalty for offsides put the Cabbies back on the Dakota's eight. Ivey and Simmons picked up three and two, Ivey going over from the three. Harvey made the placement.

Cincinnati scored in the second quarter when after receiving a punt and starting on the Marion 45, Williams went through the right side of Marion's line cutting left to score from 32 yards out Taylor attempted the kick, Fate breaking through to block it.

Marion Scores Again

Marion's second TD was set up in the second quarter when Dull recovered a Dakota fumble on the Cincinnati 14. Simmons passed to Roseberry for the touchdown. The pass from center was bad, Harvey not getting a chance to try for the placement.

The second Dakota score was a safety made when Ruhl, punting from his end zone stepped out of bounds to receive the poor pass from center.

Late in the game, Marion was penalized for being off-sides and from the 23 yard stripe Pratt passed to Williams who got to the one foot line before being dragged down by Benson. Williams scored the touchdown. Taylor went back to kick but Pratt who was to hold passed to Williams for the extra point.

Line-ups:

Marion 13		Cincinnati 15
Roseberry	LE	Taylor
Russel	LT	Pavlofsky
Strobel	LG	Werts
Benson	C	Cotterman

CLEVELAND BROWNS' ALL-GIRL BAND
They rival Rockettes with marching routines

Intricate band maneuvers, cheering section card stunts, and half-time football hoopla in general once was the private property of collegiate rooters.

But this year, with pro football shooting for fan's favor with unprecedented zeal, the paid-to-play outfits are staging half-time stunts that almost pale college games in comparison.

Probably the finest of the pro team aggregations is the Cleveland Browns' all-girl band—an outfit that rivals the famous Rockettes in precision maneuvers. The gals have a Casey at the Bat stunt done in pantomime while the famous baseball poem is read to the crowd. A midget, toting an eight-foot bat, is Casey who brings gloom to the town of Mudville, but humor to the fans sitting in on the act.

Upper Sandusky Coach Optimistic

Coach Earl Shiffer who mentors the Upper Sandusky high school basketball squad is breathing optimism about his team's chances

He will have four lettermen back from last year and also a veteran of 14 months service with the army who was a regular starter during the 1944-1945 season. The lettermen are Captain, Tom Wilson, Merle Courtland, Eugene Rife, Homer Mavis and Joe Denman. The player who has discarded his army khaki for a basketball uniform is Gerald Thiel These boys all seniors, and juniors who will be called upon are Carroll Kent, Kenny Richardson, Bob Cope, Bill Harvey and Ed Snyder. A sophomore player who also is expected to see action is Johnny Mason.

Gene Rife, last year was forced to quit the team because of a knee injury but an operation has cleared up the trouble and this season he will be as good if not better than last year.

Upper Sandusky last year won 13 of their games in regular season competition while dropping four. At tournament time plagued with injuries and mumps they dropped a close contest to Lima South They are in the Northern Ohio loop and finished fifth last year. Their four defeats were all in the league while playing against non-league squads in their regular season they were unbeatable

Upper will open it's season at Kenton No 27

ONE MORE RIVER TO CROSS FOR ILLINOIS

Bout with Northwestern All That Interests Coach.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Nov. 21 — Illinois must clear one more final football hurdle—Northwestern — to become the first Western conference participant in the Rose Bowl since 1921 when California shut out Ohio State, 28 to 0.

"We've got a football game Saturday and that's all I want to think about," said Illini Coach Ray Eliot.

Meanwhile, at Ann Arbor, Coach Fritz Crisler, whose second-place Michigan team could go to the coast classic if the Wolverines defeat Ohio State Saturday and the Wildcats upset Illinois, echoed Eliot's sentiments "We have a football game on our hands Saturday." was Crisler's comment regarding the Rose Bowl game between the champions of the Western and Pacific Coast conferences.

While the title-bearing contests will be fought at Evanston and Columbus this weekend, other conference gild contests will match Minnesota at Wisconsin and Indiana at Purdue

Illinois' hopes of a victory over a battered Northwestern team rose yesterday with announcement that guard Alex Agase, who took part in several staunch goal line stands as the Illini defeated Ohio State last Saturday, will play against the Wildcats with a broken thumb in a cast. X-ray examination yesterday disclosed the fracture.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 21-Word from the West Coast is that the frost is on the Army team as well as the pumpkin and while assorted easterners still are annoyed about this freeze-out it seems as good a time as any to suggest that bowl contracts be extended further ..While the Big Nine and Pacific Coast champs are meeting in the Rose Bowl, why not pair up the top teams of the Ivy league and the Southern conference in the Orange Bowl each year, and organize the eastern "Independents," topped by Army and Navy, to take on the Southeastern champion in the Sugar Bowl?. The Cotton Bowl already has its Southwest conference alliance and some other group, possibly the Big Six, could provide the party of the second part.

Rebuttal

When the University of Kentucky first hired Bear Bryant to put the Wildcats on the football map, some of the boys were kidding Adolph Rupp, Kentucky basketball coach, about the move ..."Adolph doesn't want football," one rival insisted, "because every time he'd get a good tall center, the football coach would grab him to play end."... Rupp just grinned. "I'd like to have a football team good enough to play in a bowl game every year," he replied. "Then when folks started asking about my basketball team in January they wouldn't notice that we had been practicing for three months."

SIGN FOR PRO BOUTS

By The Associated Press

AKRON, O., Nov. 21 — Dave Marsh, winner of 16 of 18 pro bouts, signed today to meet Sammy Birch of Cincinnati in an eight-round lightweight headliner of a five-bout pro boxing card at the armory Tuesday night. Harry Hart, hard-hitting Columbus lightweight, will battle Roy Lewis of Muncie, Ind., in another eight-rounder.

Special to The Star

LARUE—The LaRue Indians, an independent basketball team composed of former players on the high school team here, will open the season Saturday night in an engagement with the Claridon independents. The LaRue team playing under the sponsorship of the Business Mens association is made up chiefly of war veterans.

Some of the best players to represent LaRue High school in the last ten years make up the squad ranging all the way from Kenny Jones of the 1946 graduating class to Delbert Greenwood one of LaRue's all time great athletes who finished school in 1935.

Other members of the nine man squad are Ted Dennison who led the Marion county league in scoring in 1944, Robert Jones a leading point maker in 1943, Glen Dunkin of the 1940 team. Paul Sager of the 1938 class, Gene Dunkin a performer in 1941, Ralph Millisor a 1944 player and Hoop Price who played in 1942. All with the exception of Kenny Jones were in the service during the war.

After the Claridon encounter the Indians will engage Universal Cooler Nov. 30, and McMillen Feeds on Dec 7. All home games will be played on Saturday nights and will be preceded by a junior high school game. Several games on the road will be booked for Monday nights.

The preliminary contest will get under way at 7:30 p. m.

COURT RULES UNION MEMBERSHIP SECRET

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 21 — A federal court has upheld the CIO-United Steel Workers of America in pronouncing that the union can not be forced to disclose the names of all its members.

The action came yesterday in the latest phase of a long-standing legal battle between the steel workers and the Weirton Steel Co

The Third U S circuit court of appeals ordered the union to produce before a special master in Pittsburgh its financial records showing amounts paid to 36 specific Weirton employes from 1943 through 1945

But the order stipulated the master must inspect them before deciding whether they are evidence to become public property

Many of the 36 ostensibly are members of an independent union but the West Virginia company claimed they worked with the CIO and secretly furnished that union with information to aid in an organizational battle with the company at plants at Weirton and Steubenville, O.

The union, which contended there would be a "state of terror" at Weirton if "we have to disclose the names of our members," succeeded in keeping from the company its membership records and also information on any money it may have paid to Weirton employes except the 36 specifically named in a subpoena issued by company lawyers.

The case involves contempt of court charges brought by the CIO union against the company. The union charged the company reformed previous units, found by the circuit court to be in violation of the Wagner act as company dominated unions, into the Weirton independent union.

CHICAGO, Nov. 21—The possibility of renting baseball parks in the American Association to a Professional Football league will be studied by a three-member committee of the league's officials.

Announcement of the survey was made yesterday by H Roy Hamey who was succeeded as association president by Frank Lane, chief of the New York Yankees farm system, at a meeting of the association directors.

Hamey said the association would rent to minor leagues sponsored by either the National Football league or the All-America conference if suitable financial arrangements could be made He added that the league had not aligned itself to either major football circuit

Committee members are Al Bannister, president of the Columbus Red Birds Bill Ryan, general manager of the Minneapolis Millers, and Lee MacPhail, business manager of the Kansas City Blues

Directors of the association said the twin cities—Minneapolis and St. Paul—Indianapolis, Columbus and Milwaukee all have prominent college football teams and if professional games were scheduled on Sunday following collegiate contests, out-of-town fans might attend both affairs

SENTENCE ASKED FOR BOY POISON SUSPECT

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov 21—The poisoned-candy slaying of Daniel Enslow, 16, of Fremont, O., was back in juvenile court today with a grand jury recommendation that Warren Rose, 15, of Columbus be sentenced to the Boys' Industrial School at Lancaster until he is 21

Rose is accused of the July 20 slaying

The grand jury yesterday refused to return an indictment or a no-bill in the case of Rose, who with Enslow and two other boys fled the bureau of juvenile research shortly before the Fremont boy's body was found floating in a west-end quarry

The report said "there is convincing evidence that Warren Rose caused the death of Daniel Enslow, but the evidence as to manner or means by which death resulted, as well as the motive, is conflicting and uncertain"

Rose made a statement saying he put poison in a bar of candy and gave it to Enslow after a quarrel, but later repudiated it and said he hit the victim with a club and rolled his body into the quarry pit water

Bucks Knock Selves Out In Practice for Michigan Tilt

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 21 — Michigan is in for a rough session when it meets Ohio State on the gridiron here Saturday, if the Bucks methods in practice indicate anything.

Coach Paul Bixler turned the boys loose with everything they had yesterday and when he called time the casualty list showed

Placekicker Max Schnittker, and third string end Trian Dendiu each had a cut over an eye

Ray Stackhouse, a tackle, had a bruised knee

Jimmy Hague, substitute fullback, was knocked unconscious from a block by right end Jimmy Crane

Continues Shuffle

Bixler continued to shuffle his players in search of a combination he hopes will carry Ohio State to victory in the final game of the year

Third-string halfback Russ Wolfe was shifted from left half to right half and Tommy Phillips, a quarterback, was moved into the third string left halfback position because of the absence of the injured Jerry Krall

Bob Brugge, the right halfback, was still out of action because of a sore back muscle and Bixler put Mike Cannavino in his place

Movies Run Again

The motion pictures of last Saturday's game with Illinois, which show that fullback Joe Whisler apparently scored a touchdown in the third quarter, were run last night at a meeting of the Ohio State Journal quarterback club.

"The movies prove nothing — the pictures were taken at an angle from the 30-yard line and the officials were in perfect position to call it a touchdown if Whisler went over," Coach Bixler said afterward.

Discussing the Rose Bowl agreement between the Big Nine and the Pacific Coast conference, Bix said he looked for the weather to be a factor favorable to the West Coast aggregation. Weather conditions, he declared, ordinarily would not be so good for practice in the Middle West as on the coast.

WRESTLES TONIGHT

Gordon Hessell, Milwaukee's favorite son in the wrestling game, will make his Marion debut tonight in the semi-final when he meets Gentleman (no gentleman at all) Dale Haddock of Detroit. Hessell is one of the best wrestlers in this part of the country and has been dubbed by different sport writers as having the most perfect body of them all. This Milwaukee grappler is one of the fastest men on the mat.

The two hour main go is a return match between Steve Nenoff and Al Szasz. These two met last week in one of the best matches seen here in a long time and Al won over Nenoff in straight falls but the tough Bulgarian claims that if he hadn't got kicked out of the ring hurting his head it would have been a different story so Al very willingly gave Steve another chance to prove it wasn't an accident. Their match will be the best two out of three falls or two hours time limit.

The prelim tonight will be a three round boxing bout between Dick Merion and Jim Garver. The action starts at 8 30. If you haven't your ringside seats call 2745 after six o'clock for the best. Prices (all taxes paid) General 75c. Reserved Ringside $1.00. Kids under 14 years 50c —Adv.

Address on Philippines Ends Epworth School of Religion

Closing sessions of the Epworth Methodist School of Religion were held Wednesday night at the church with the final speaker of the lecture four Dr Ernest E. Tuck, missionary to the Philippines, interned by the Japanese during World War II. His subject was "Our Heroic War Missionaries."

Dr. V. E. Butler, pastor, presided, and prayer was offered by Robert Wilson. Mrs E. N. Hale led congregational singing at the various sessions, with Miss Maye Evangeline Lawrence presiding at the organ.

Conducted on five consecutive Wednesday nights the school included besides the lectures four seminars held each night under the direction of specialists in the field of religious education. Well-known religious leaders of the Methodist church were the special speakers.

Plan To Return

In opening his message, Dr Tuck, who with Mrs. Tuck will return to the Philippines as soon as transportation is available, quoted statements of modern historians to the effect that "the horizon of the United States is moving steadily westward." Stressing however, that the Philippines is now an independent nation, he praised the Filipino people highly, their courage and loyalty to ideals of freedom and democracy, and expressed the hope that there will be improving relationship between the people of this country and of those of "the newest in the family of nations."

Describing as a "miracle" the progress of Protestantism in the island since the first foundation stone of that faith was laid there 48 years ago he stated that there are now 500,000 people of the Protestant connection, and in the Methodist conference all ministers but one are native Filipinos.

Of his wartime experiences, he described the early morning communion service in the university church in Manila on Christmas, 1941, in the middle of which an unexpected air raid by Japanese planes took place, commenting on the spirit of union effected among the people of the various nationalities and races by the common danger, common need, and suffering together.

Travels Bloody Road

He spoke briefly on the "Japanese religious effort brought in by the Japanese army" within the impact of a pagan army on an essentially Christian community," and told of his internment with other missionaries and their final release by American troops. Last spring he returned to the island and traveled over the road of the infamous death march and found marked at the place where the march ended, the remains of the camp with inscription that "here 35,000 Filipino soldiers and 1,500 American soldiers lost their lives in the cause of freedom," he related.

In a question period following the lecture, he stated that criticism of the Philippines made by members of American troops on the Philippines are caused by a failure of these young soldiers to realize the suffering undergone by the island people during the years of the war and to understand that they are not an army of occupation as is the case in enemy countries, but that these troops are in reality guests in a foreign land.

PYTHIAN SISTERS MEET

The recently issued proclamation by the supreme chief, Mildred V. Sisney, regarding membership was discussed at a meeting of Marion Temple No. 281 Pythian Sisters last night. Under the new ruling women wishing to enroll as members, but who have no male relative affiliated with the Knights of Pythias lodge may do so, Mrs. Albert Bechtle states. Heretofore membership has been limited to women having husbands, fathers or brothers affiliated with the men's lodge.

"ETERNITY" IS TOPIC OF MISSION SERMON

Rev. Fr. Walter Kaelin of Detroit Preaches Here.

"Eternity" was the subject of a sermon delivered by Rev. Fr. Walter Kaelin, C. P., missioner of Detroit, last night at the women's mission in progress this week at St. Mary Catholic church. Another large crowd attended the service which will close Sunday. A mission for men will be conducted next week, beginning Sunday.

Taking his sermon theme from the text, "Remember thy last end and thou wilt never sin," and comparing death to a bridge leading to eternity, Rev. Kaelin reminded his listeners that people prepare for many things but not for death. Death, he said, is the one and only certain thing in life, yet paradoxically, it is the most uncertain. "There is a dangerous bridge ahead of all of us and on the other side is eternity—it can mean happiness or misery," he said. Recalling the deaths of saints and martyrs and also men and women whose lives warranted the hope of an eternity in heaven, Rev. Kaelin said that a happy death is not necessarily a painless one.

Tonight's sermon will be on "The Status of the Church on Marriage" and Friday night will be "Meditation on the Crucifixion."

AUXILIARY TO MEET

Plans will be made for a Christmas party and also for a card party Saturday night at a meeting of the auxiliary to Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion Friday night at the Dugout.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Programs on the Air

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 21 — This is turning into worry week in network circles. Worry about the question "Will there be a strike of radio artists over the weekend?"

Up to now, it is anybody's guess, but the best obtainable sentiment tends to the belief that there won't. To bear this out is the fact that representatives of the networks and of the American Federation of Radio Artists, AFL union to which all types of microphone entertainers belong, have been meeting all week, first at one network headquarters then another, in an attempt to settle some differences.

The main stumbling block is AFRA's insistance on a proposed clause which would bar the networks from supplying programs to an affiliated station with which the union would be having contractural difficulties.

The union has maintained that this must be threshed out before proceeding to other clauses such as a 35 per cent salary increase. The networks have indicated they'd just as soon pass it up until those other matters are resolved.

AFRA now is working under an agreement extending the old contract, which expired Oct. 31. However, it previously had given 30-day notice of a strike vote, which expires at midnight Sunday.

There has been a growing feeling that if no conclusion is reached by that time, a walkout might not materialize provided the continuing negotiations give any sort of a show of progress.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

MARION'S face was distorted now with grief and terror, and I had to nerve myself to go on with my indictment of her.

"Have you any idea of what you are doing not only to your country, but to the safety of Ronald's father?" I asked.

"I'm not doing any harm to the country," she said, "and I may be saving Daddy Brixton from death," she said so resolutely, that I knew the line on which I was traveling led directly to an unsurmountable stone wall.

Switched Tracks

I switched tracks immediately with the decision to leave well enough alone for the present. I had her promise—as good as the strongest sworn oath—to watch Carolyn's every movement. I also had discovered, I was sure, the secret of her melancholy and odd behavior which was causing Lillian such concern. It would be but a matter of hours when I could confront Samuel Brixton with my knowledge—without betraying her confidence, and induce him to release her from the promise she had made to him.

I rose abruptly from my chair.

"I am sure you are mistaken, Marion," I said, "but you have been through enough for now. Later on, you may think differently about this. But Mr. Brixton is safe here, for the present, and you have a trying job watching Carolyn. So we won't discuss the other problem any more tonight."

Looked at Watch

I looked at my wrist watch and went toward the door.

"I have a little time left before Mrs. Brixton and Carolyn come back," I said, "and I wish to speak to your mother alone. Would you mind staying here for ten minutes before coming over?"

Her lips were suddenly stiff and pallid.

"You're not going to—"she began, then she stopped and her face crimsoned.

"Forgive me, Auntie Madge," she said. "Of course you must tell my mother anything you think best."

I whirled at that, and went over to her, gripping her shoulders tightly.

"Don't you know that I shall tell your mother nothing about the secret you are keeping for Mr. Brixton?" I demanded. "Nothing, do you hear me, nothing. When you are ready to speak to anyone, you must tell her first of all."

Sobbed With Relief

She was in my arms now, clinging to me, sobbing with relief.

"Oh, thank you, thank you," she murmured. "And I don't care about her knowing what I am going to do about Carolyn."

"I am glad of that," I said, "for I shall have to tell her about Carolyn, and your work with her. So, now dry your eyes, and get ready for Carolyn. She mustn't suspect you have been upset over anything."

"She won't, she said. "I'll get right to work."

"Then good bye for now, dearest," I said, "I may not see you again until tomorrow. And, do not get frightened later on if you find your door locked on the outside. There will be someone patrolling the halls all night, so there will be no danger of fire. You have your bathroom, opening into your mother's room also, and I am going to tell her that her room also will be locked for the night. Mrs. Brixton will share her room, Carolyn will share yours, and we can take no chances of either your 'roomie' or her mother roaming the halls at night when they believe everybody to be asleep."

"I am glad you told me," she said composedly, and I knew that the prospect of being locked in for the night did not disturb her in the least. "I can figure out some explanation for Carolyn."

"She may not need one," I said. "Wait to tell her until she discovers that she is locked in. I shall not lock the doors until quite late tonight, and they will be unlocked early in the morning."

A grim little smile touched the corners of her mouth.

"And I shall not go to sleep tonight until I am sure she is safely in slumber land," she said, as I went out of the door.
